Course overview

Are you or a loved one waiting on a diagnosis for ADHD? If so, the tools and resources in this ADHD course can support you through the process. Having correct and up-to-date information is a crucial part of understanding the diagnosis. This equality & diversity course is aimed at people supporting others with ADHD. Gain understanding of what ADHD is and how it affects behaviour. Consider the facts and myths surrounding ADHD and learn ways to interact productively with individuals with ADHD. Gain awareness of behaviour that challenges and explore strategies to manage it.

Course description

This course is also useful for individuals with ADHD. It can help you understand the condition better and answer questions you may have. You will learn in a supportive and friendly environment.

Depending on your needs, there are various study options after this short course.

You can continue studying ADHD courses if you want to gain more in-depth knowledge. You can also take a SEN course if you'd like to understand the special educational needs of neurodiverse people.

If you're not sure which course is right for you, feel free to ask your tutor for advice. They will be more than happy to guide you based on their life experience.

To study this equality & diversity course you'll need an internet connection. This is so you can access our digital learning platform, Canvas.
