Course description

Creative Writing and the Sea is designed for individuals who want to explore the rich tradition of maritime literature and use the sea as inspiration for their writing. This course covers key themes such as adventure, exploration, isolation, and the relationship between humans and the ocean. Participants will read and analyze classic and contemporary works of maritime literature, and use these texts as a springboard for their own creative writing. The course includes writing exercises, peer feedback, and discussions that encourage participants to experiment with different narrative techniques and styles. By the end of the course, participants will have produced a collection of sea-inspired writing and gained a deeper appreciation for the literary potential of the ocean. This course is ideal for writers, literature enthusiasts, and anyone interested in the power of the sea as a source of creative inspiration.
