Course overview

Examine the rise of fascism in Europe with our History: Fascism and the Troubled 1930s course. Learn about the factors that led to the growth of fascist movements and their impact on European societies. Ideal for history enthusiasts and students of modern European history.

Course description

History: Fascism and the Troubled 1930s is designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the rise of fascism in Europe during the interwar period. This course covers the political, economic, and social factors that contributed to the growth of fascist movements in countries like Italy, Germany, and Spain. Participants will explore key events, ideologies, and figures associated with fascism, as well as the impact of these movements on European societies. The course includes critical analysis of primary sources, discussions on the consequences of fascist rule, and reflections on the lessons that can be drawn from this period. By the end of the course, participants will have a deeper understanding of the causes and consequences of fascism in the 1930s and its lasting impact on European history. This course is ideal for history enthusiasts, students of modern European history, and anyone interested in the study of totalitarian regimes.
