Course overview

"Introduction to Supporting Teaching and Learning in Schools" is designed for anyone interested in gaining essential knowledge and skills to work with children and young people in educational settings. This course provides a comprehensive foundation in understanding schools as organisations, safeguarding, equality, diversity, and inclusion. Learners will also explore key aspects of health and safety and how to support positive behaviour in the learning environment. You will be able to understand the UK policies and procedures covering confidentiality, data protection and disclosure of information. Upon successful completion, you will be prepared to progress to a Level 2 Qualification in Supporting Teaching and Learning with the WEA, opening opportunities for a career in education support roles.

Course description

This course is a foundational course tailored for those who aspire to work with children and young people in school or college environments. Whether you are considering a career in education or looking to enhance your understanding of how schools operate, this course offers a comprehensive introduction to the essential concepts and practices required to support teaching and learning effectively.

Throughout the course, you will gain an understanding of how schools and colleges function as organisations, including the roles and responsibilities of various staff members. A key focus is placed on safeguarding, ensuring that you are equipped to help protect children and young people in educational settings. The course also delves into the principles of equality, diversity, and inclusion, highlighting the importance of creating an inclusive environment that respects and values all students.

In addition to these foundational topics, you will explore strategies for supporting the health and safety of children and young people, as well as techniques for promoting positive behaviour in the classroom. Understand the UK policies and procedures covering confidentiality, data protection and disclosure of information. These skills are critical for anyone looking to contribute to a supportive and effective learning environment.

Upon successful completion, you will be ready to advance to a Level 2 Qualification in Supporting Teaching and Learning with the WEA, furthering your journey toward a
