Course description

Art Appreciation: Nina Hamnet in London and Paris is designed to provide an in-depth exploration of the life and work of Nina Hamnet, an influential figure in the art scenes of London and Paris during the early 20th century. This course covers her artistic contributions, relationships with other artists, and the cultural contexts that shaped her work. Participants will study key works by Hamnet, as well as her influence on modern art movements in both cities. The course includes lectures, discussions, and visual analyses that encourage critical thinking and a deeper understanding of Hamnet's place in art history. By the end of the course, participants will have a comprehensive knowledge of Nina Hamnet's work and her impact on the development of modern art. This course is ideal for art enthusiasts, historians, and anyone interested in exploring the contributions of women in art.
